ABOUT ME

I'm a Software developer and Graphic designer at D3box, living in Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India. I spend my days with my hands in many different areas of web development from back end programming (PHP, Django/Python) to front end engineering (HTML, CSS, and jQuery/Javascript), digital accessibility, user experience and visual design. I'm extremely passionate about web development and design in all its forms and helping small businesses and artisans build and improve their online presence. Aside from web development, I enjoy spending my time with my family, taking photos, playing, watching sports and some mixed martial arts stuffs.
